Seek Dog Which Bit Young Boy

Mrs. J. C. Helland, 4609 Newton, is anxious to locate the owners of the black water or cocker spaniel which bit her son Christopher, 7, Saturday, when he attempted to pet the dog. By Sunday a break in the skin showed up.

Since the dog had no identification, no tag or number, although he was dragging a long chain, Mrs. Helland had tied the dog to a tree in her yard, hoping the owners would see him. If they did not appear she intended to call the SPCA.

When she called her doctor about Christopher's bite, he advised that the dog be tied up for 14 days but when she returned to the yard the dog had disappeared.

Young Christopher faces a series of Pastuer treatments unless the dog can be located and checked by the Health department who expect to check with the Hellands within a few days.
